On account of wide-spread interest in statements of the Mark Probert Controls (deep trance mediumship), we summarize here the recent remarks of RAMON NATALLI, an astronomer and mathematician contemporary with Shakespeare. Let me point out that these tentative forecasts do not derive from metaphysics, or mysticism, or any prophetic fervour, but are scientific deductions by a scientific observer on the "other side". They should possess special interest for those who respect such sources of information).

'A great amount of drifting matter, cosmic dust or debris is drifting toward the earth and will pass between the earth and the moon. It is likely to cause periods of partial or even complete darkness at different times and in different areas. This may begin at any time but will not be deferred more than five years. It will be a slow process and will not take place all at once.

'These dust clouds will affect the etheric pressures on your globe; the internal stresses of the planet will be released and earthquakes will result. They will at first be occasional and widely distributed, and will affect places known to be subject to such disturbances (as, the Japanese islands), but they will increase until the whole of your planet is shaken. There will be a disruption of the etheric (or magnetic) fields and the sky will seem filled with fire. The continental land masses will be moved.

'It will do no harm if a few people are told of these things, but to try to inform or prepare them mentally is a work of vanity' (i.e., vain and useless. ml). 'Each one of us meets all experiences, great or small, in his own way.

'The body of the aeroform, the so-called Disc, is congealed light. So too are the bodies of the space people, when they become visible to you... You may reach the moon, as I think you will do by 1955, but no human body can stand the demands of true space travel. You must have the shield against cosmic rays, which I have spoken of before - and this same shield will nullify gravity ...

The "little men" and their small Discs do indeed issue from mother ships; they pop out of them like smoke rings. When they land and gather up earth or water, it is for purposes of scientific study and analysis.' (Chemical content and radiations). The first form of propulsion used by you (in reaching the moon) will be atomic...

Natalli.

It should be obvious that in the case of such global quakes as Natalli expects, no areas of safety can be determined beforehand. Common sense, however, would suggest that one avoid low coastal regions, land subject to flood from dams, lakes and rivers, known volcanic vents and known active fault lines, precipitous and rocky slopes and the like.

There is the anecdote of the philosophic farmer. "If you knew that you would die tonight, what would you do? -- "Wal, I guess I'd go right on ploughin' this field."

We try to give information, but not advice.- or, the farmer has probably summed up all the 'advice' we are capable of giving.

In connection with the forecast just quoted from the Control Ramon Natalli, it may be of interest to refer to that of another Communicator, Rama Ka Lao, first published in our Release 10-A-52 (Oct. '52):

"I make no predictions of imminent disaster to your world, yet the period of growth of your civilization is now on its descending arc. Therefore the Guardians of your earth and of the solar system have made their appearance - as they have done on many other occasions, greater and lesser - for the purpose of studying the the earth and the solar system (under these changing conditions). . .

"The increasing separation of the island universes (the "red shift") is disturbing the balance of forces - its nutation is affected. It is not the accumulation of polar ice in itself, but its excess weight comes into play as the gravitational forces change. . . Your globe will run into great clouds of stellar debris. Some of this is almost certain to fall as showers of fiery matter. It is likely that the moon will change to a new face. Immense upheavals will take place on the moon. . .

"Too much static electricity will bombard your earth" (cosmic rays) - "these come from the suns (stars). In place of the ultra-violet you will receive the infra-red" (heat rays) because of the recession of the celestial bodies. This increase in temperature will work upon the polar ice and affect the balance of the earth. The earth is held by an alignment of forces between it and the moon; there is a line of pressure which may give way slowly or suddenly. When it does, the earth will tip.

"An event which takes place slowly according to your earth time may appear in our or other time-frames to be quite sudden - or, it may seem more sudden to you than to us. . .

"The moon did not originate as part of the earth, nor was it thrown off by the sun. It was an accretion in space, formed when it was needed. Long ago there was another moon, a smaller one, which broke into fragments, and part of these bombarded the earth.

"It is probable that there will be outbreaks of strange diseases in different parts of the world, with which your doctors can do even less than with diseases you now have. They will be occasioned by general atmospheric and etheric changes. And you should expect mental breaks in many places" (psycho-physical and pathological 'waves', which may be mild or very serious. . ."

Comment from the YADA DI SHI'ITE, Aug. 10, '53.

"Certainly the Russians have the hydrogen bomb. We told you months ago that this was the case..."

(It is true that the Yada made such a statement in the spring of '53, but it was not clear whether he meant that the Russians possessed the technical 'secrets' or if the bomb was in production. We understand him to mean that it is in production at this present time).

From what information we can obtain, it seems quite certain that geophysicists, astronomers and other scientists throughout the world are well aware of increasing seismic disturbances along with others arising in the solar system and in space (etheric and gravitational fields). The increasing volcanic activity has been foreseen by seismologists for years past. The Probert Controls are not saying anything incredible or even improbable to many scientists - but they do claim to add data which is only accessible to them, from their plane of observation. They are giving us alleged but probable facts which scientists would not release even if verified. We consider this an extraordinary and invaluable source of information, and consider it part of our BSR program to offer it to our Associates - in a factual and temperate manner, for information only.

THE SAUCERIAN: New publication, Vol. I, issue 1. Edited & published by Gray Barker, Box 981, Clarksburg, W. Virginia. Roger N. Parris, Assoc. Ed. & Consultant. Bi-monthly; 6 issues $1.00; singles .25. This runs to 31 pages, 8½ x 11", ditto machine print. "Contributions welcomed". The Editor accepts the reality of the Discs and other aeroforms and does not consider them as products of our planet. Material wanted includes (1) saucer sighting reports (2) articles on the aeroforms, speculative or factual (3) Shaver mystery material (4) very short fiction, humour, verse. Not a 'fanzine'. The piece of resistance of this first number is a 12-page detailed report on the West Virginia Monster, results of first-hand on-the-spot investigation. conservative and thorough. Also included is "The Question", a short fictional piece by BSR Associate Mary Judith Hyde, and a useful review of the Arnold-Palmer book, under the heading Trickery in Tacoma, by editor Barker. . . The Saucerian is honest and constructive - and a natural consequence of this fact would be an ultimate endorsement of the BSR approach to the whole problem of the aeroforms. We recommend this first issue, particularly for the analysis of the "Monster" incident.

What is Fantastic? We were told some months ago that certain 'experts' and 'scientists' regarded our etheric explanation as 'too fantastic' - but were considerably puzzled by the scientific knowledge displayed (by the Controls). Well, the X-ray was ridiculed by nearly every physicist in America, and the flight of heavier-than-air machines was "mathematically proved" to be impossible. That's no argument, pro or contra, as to the BSR account, but does indicate the type of mind one has to contend with. It will be understood eventually that the concept of the ethers and of etheric races and peoples is sound and basic science, as well as most ancient knowledge and consistent metaphysics. As far as controversy goes, we are content to leave the issue to the processes of Time, with full confidence in the verdict.

We are glad to get clips and reports of all kinds, but we do not print many of these. The reason is, that all the real questions now are concerned with the meaning of the phenomena - there is no debate about their actuality. There is a global or planetary crisis at hand -and for those who want to KNOW the problem is one of understanding, of interpretation. These hosts of spectators in the etheric galleries are here (in part at least) to watch what may be the last act in the tragi-comedy of Earth and Mankind. Humans who are reasonably mature - reasonably adult in mind - prefer to face even a perilous future without hoodwink - with the eyes of the mind wide open. . . The coming phenomena of earth and sky are likely to be spectacular - beyond words - but it is the mind and purpose of the God which challenge us, rather than the splendour of his lightning. . .

"Who shall contend with his Lords
Or cross them or do them wrong?
Who shall bind them as with cords?
Who shall tame them as with song?
Who shall smite them as with swords,
For the hands of their kingdom are strong"

Since we are making quotations, let us add one from Hemingway: "No, worrying does no good. Neither for children nor for their parents. A good soldier does not worry. He knows that nothing happens until it actually happens and you live your life up until then. Danger only exists at the moment of danger. A thing is bad only when it is bad, not before or after. Learn to suspend your imagination and live completely in the very second of the present minute." -- And Shakespeare to end with: "By my troth I care not: a man can die but once; we owe God a death...and let it go which way it will, he that dies this year is quit for the next."

Abominable Snow Man: (now dignified as homo nivis odiosus) has achieved a first step toward publicity, or has put his foot in it; at any rate the London Daily mail of June 5 last printed a good-sized photograph of the Snowman's foot print in Tibetan snows, along with some three columns of data and discussion - the whole of which : substantiates the Snowman's existence. Your BSR Director wrote up this subject in The Flying Roll 5 or 6 years ago and thought he might have to leave for Tibet himself as a result. - Oh, well ---

Eruption of Mt. Spur (Alaska) is described by H.E. Bangle of Los Angeles, who flew over the area from the Anchorage Base. This mountain, 11,300 ft. high, was blowing boulders to a height of 10,000 ft., smoke and ash to 60,000 ft. The great ice fields were covered for miles with black and gray ash and debris. Anchorage was likewise ash covered and went into a complete mid-day blackout, with everyone indoors on account of the sulphuric content of the ash. No panic, however.

Fortean "Falls". DOUBT Magazine, current issue (Vol.II No.41) adds a good deal of data to what little we have printed about the ice falls in the Los Angeles area. In brief: 'a chunk 13 x 6" narrowly missed a woman and child at Whittier, 1-15-53. About 50 huge blocks of ice fell on cars and car lots in Long Beach (June 4); some were 3-4 ft. long; fall continued for two minutes. Fragments picked up weighed about 25 lbs., but large shattered blocks were estimated at 300 lbs or more.' DOUBT prints pages of these and similar "damned facts"; I quote only enough here to show the kind of stuff that does NOT get into the press - and the absurdity of nine-tenths of "explanations" by authorities and "experts." - "Ever see a jet stand still in the air for five minutes?" asks Editor Thayer. Columnist Don Green, writing in Round Robin, also debunked the jet-plane explanation on similar grounds. -- But the vendors of soothing syrup have a public which even DOUBT cannot hope for, to say nothing of RR and these small CQC bulletins. (DOUBT may be had from the Fortean Society, Box 192 Grand Central Annex, N.Y.C., N.Y. Singles, .35)

Earthquakes: Close to the deadline for this issue of CQC comes the news of the disaster in the Greek islands, of other quakes in Italy and Formosa, and of continuing activity in the Aleutians. A period of violent seismic disturbances has been predicted, years ago, by the Mark Probert Controls (and of course, by seismologists and geophysicists on 'this side' as well). The Controls, however, go so much further, and have been so accurate in the past, that I am enclosing as part of this issue, a page of recent quotations from the 16th c. astronomer RAMON NATALLI.

I hope that paragraphs ~~3 to 7~~^{4 to 5} inclusive will be read with close attention by all Associates. of pg. 4/

In speaking of the past 'accuracy' of the Controls, it is meant that the general course and sequence of events has been forecast - but NOT any precise dates. Sometimes closely imminent events can be dated; others can often be dated approximately.

Predictions given by the Controls and publicised by us are not in the nature of "inspired" prophecies - are not rooted in mysticism or religion or metaphysics. They are of the nature of scientific forecasts made by scientific minds on the 'other side' of life, and possessing information and advantages not obtainable by scientists on our own plane of existence. Such sources are of course rejected a priori by many people, but I feel that they should be offered to our Associates and other persons of receptive minds.

- Items from the Mark Probert Communications -

"The Sages oppress mankind - it is good to go and listen everywhere, but a time comes when this going and listening comes to an end. Then one must look within. Many desire to be teachers, in all love and kindness, and this is good. But in the end you will have to shut out these Voices of all others than the Self.

"The unawakened have no free choice because they are driven by their emotions.

"The brain and the mind do not think. The mind is a field of patterns and of symbols. The machine called the brain is stimulated by these patterns. A bird and a man alike are but symbols.

"For seven billion years your earth has been in existence. Always there has been brutality, always there has been love. These can never cease to be, except within the self.

"Do not accept anything too quickly - be slow of judgment.

"My name means Old Boy - i.e., Eternal Child. It is fabled that I lay within my mother for sixty years. This of course is a mystical saying. The Virgin Birth means purity of mind. I have since then been back and forth many times. (Incarnations on the earth plane). But what is it that reincarnates? You say, The Ego. But what is the nature of this Ego? Life Spark, you call it - and what is this more than a word? The physical body is a gauge for measurements. And amid the deeper realities words are useless.

"I am Lao-Tse. Yes, it is pronounced thus in my tongue: Lau-ot-Szau."

(au like ow in how; o as in ode).

* * * * *

"What you call psychic powers will be natural to you in the life to come - telepathy, clairaudience, clairvoyance, projection and the like. Yet they have to be learned, acquired, even there. Therefore to develop them while on your plane helps your progress. The life of the physical world is an initiation - is for learning. The life of the lower Astral is for the elimination of "low" desires.

"As you know, I use the passes and the mantrams for healing. The role of the mantram is this, that by using it I make KA (universal Life Force, God) consciously aware of my need and of the need of the one who is ill. When KA is aware, IT flows in upon us.

"Bathe the hands and wrists with cold water when a healing is ended. This causes the nerves to send out negative acids. In healing, use the right hand chiefly; it is the hand of power, of force. The left hand is negative; it can be said to ground the energy. Always there are two or more forces at work - always two poles of force ... The body is a geometric symbol of the universe - and cosmic forces do affect the physical-chemical body.

(Concerning the "little men" observed at the Brush Creek disc landings (and elsewhere. See RR ix-2, last 3 pgs.):

"The universe swarms with life of many kinds. Some planets have inhabitants much like yourselves, but on others they differ much in size, form, weight, density and other characteristics. There are giants and pigmies and all sizes between. Among your sky visitors there are some who come from planets and others who come from space." (By "space" the communicator does not mean vacuity, but rather the enormously dense ethers which equate with space).

"It is my belief that by 1955 you will be able to land a rocket on the moon. The conquest of the moon is your next great project - and it behooves you to make it successful. Its seizure by another Power would mean its domination of the planet" (our earth). In landing human beings on the moon there are two main problems; (a) that of protection from cosmic radiation (b) that of propulsion.

"It would take at least 15 ft. of lead to protect you from the cosmic rays. These would not be immediately fatal, but life would be very short afterward - five or ten years, perhaps. Cancer-like growths would appear throughout the body. But such a heavy lead shield would be impracticable. So, you cannot use any material you now have - or as you now have it. But you will find a way to align the atoms and molecules. I think this will be done by means of powerful electrical impulses or jolts. In the web of energy so created the magnetic fields will not merge - i.e., the object so shielded will be weightless. And the great density of the shield will protect from the cosmic rays. There will be no limit to the speed of such a weightless object.

"The first propulsion used by you will be atomic. But there is a way to utilize the vibratory rates of the ethers, by a kind of resonance or harmonics. The people of the Discs could teach you all these things.

"There is so much apprehension among you already, I do not want to add to it.* . . . Well, I shall say that your world, your planet as a whole will suffer a great earthquake. This will be an ether-quake in its origin. There will be a kind of disruption of the magnetic or etheric fields. The sky will seem filled with fire. Great land masses will be displaced; there will be huge inundations . . . this will come in a few years - it will not be many years. More than this I am told I should not say.
